

Thank you for reaching out!

Please take note of the following important information.

Good day,

At Bassani's Auction House, we specialise in facilitating fair and competitive auctions, where item values are determined by market demand and bidding activity. As a result, we DO NOT offer individual item value assessments. However, we invite you to browse our past auctions on the Bassani's App to determine estimate values of previously sold coins and notes which share similar characteristics to those in your possession.

Kindly be advised that our auctions prominently feature coins, notes, and medallions known for their rarity, condition, and/or unique attributes, setting them apart from the rest. However, we understand the potential confusion that may arise when observing similar items from your collection fetching high prices at auction. It is worth noting that not all coins and notes exhibit these distinctive characteristics, which in turn contribute to their individuality, rarity, and subsequent higher value.

As a result, reputable grading companies meticulously assess and grade coins and notes with these distinctive characteristics to preserve their quality, evaluate their condition and verify their authenticity. At Bassani's Auction House, we prioritise coins and notes that have undergone the grading process on our auctions, as they offer credibility to us as your entrusted specialist auctioneers and our passionate community of bidders.

If you believe that the coins and/or notes you possess meet our standards and wish to consign them with us, we encourage you to share images for our review. Our expert team will promptly assess and respond accordingly. Should you not receive a response within a day, regrettably it indicates that we are not interested.

If you have any ungraded coins that our team feel fit to put on Auction, Bassani's Auction House will give you the option to Grade them with our local grading company SANGS, upon closer discussion.

<https://www.sangs.co.za>

Should you have any additional queries, please feel free to email us at sales@bassanis.co.za

Regards,

Bassani's Auction House

www.bassanis.co.za